PETAH TIKVA, ISRAEL and TYSONS CORNER, Va., Jan. 12, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Cellebrite (Nasdaq: CLBT), a global leader in Digital Intelligence (DI) solutions for the public and private sectors, today announced that it has joined the AWS Partner Network (APN) as an Advanced Technology Partner and is providing Cellebrite Guardian, an investigative digital evidence management solution designed specifically for investigators, examiners, and attorneys, on Amazon Web Services (AWS). Cellebrite Guardian is the latest offering in Cellebrite's end-to-end investigative DI Platform designed to help public safety agencies and enterprises modernize their investigative workflow.

By joining the APN, Cellebrite gains access to a community of over 10,000 Partners in 150 countries using AWS to build solutions and services for customers across a range of different sectors and disciplines. Access to the APN's joint go-to-market programs, expertise, and resources will support Cellebrite's ability to expand its portfolio of cloud-based solutions that help customers reduce risk, increase collaboration, and drive down storage, hardware, and system maintenance costs.

Ryan Reynolds, US Justice and Public Safety Leader at AWS, said: "We welcome Cellebrite into our AWS Partner Network where customers will find an industry-leading solution that allows them to securely manage, collaborate, and gain insights from digital evidence as part of their investigative efforts."

Leor Ben-Peretz, Chief Strategy Officer at Cellebrite, commented: "Introducing new market-leading DI solutions in the cloud is a significant area of focus for Cellebrite. The AWS Partner Network will enable us to scale quickly and meet growing customer demands for cloud-based investigative solutions."

Cellebrite and AWS customer, Joshua Lee, a police sergeant in the City of Mesa (Arizona) Police Department, said: "Using Cellebrite Guardian to manage chain of custody for physical evidence and digital evidence, while streamlining every step throughout the workflow, makes it an essential solution for conducting effective investigations and accelerating time to action. The transformational change from paper and USB drives to Cellebrite Guardian will directly and positively impact the ability of investigative teams to optimize resources. Guardian is flexible and can be adapted to any workflow, helping to eliminate manual processes, and allows investigators to review findings in real-time. It is great that two industry leaders have teamed up to provide an essential solution when backlogs are just getting longer."
